

Interpreting Wine Guide to Podcast Kit

22 November 2019

This guide will show you

- my current podcasting set-up
- tips for getting best results
- approximate prices for purchasing on Amazon in the UK

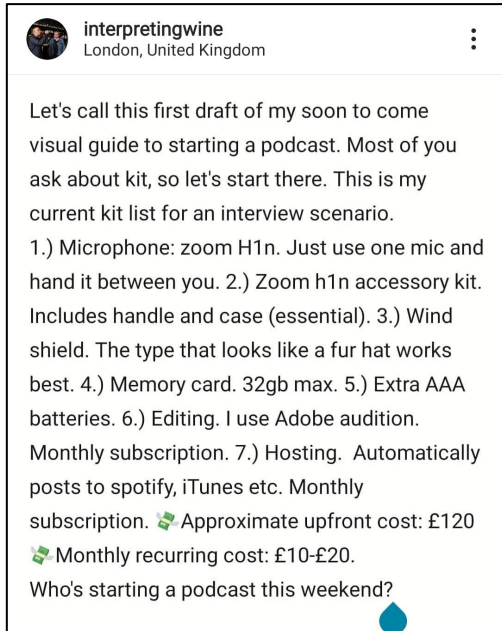

This guide will not show you

- if podcasting is the right medium for you or your business.
- the subtle, unconscious processes I use when interviewing
- how to stay motivated when you start and very few people are listening.
- how to love the sound of your own voice. Clue: you probably never will!

Let's get started!

by the way this is an extended version of a post I recently shared on my Instagram account @interpretingwine

1. Zoom h1n microphone

Current price on Amazon (UK): £89

Pro-tip: In an interview set up just pass the mic between you and edit out any delay or noise in post production

2. Zoom h1n accessory kit

Current price on Amazon (UK): £29 (Save £9 if you buy in a bundle with the recorder)

Pro-tip: You will need this to for the handle and also a nice case to carry your recorder in

3. Furry wind muff

Current price on Amazon (UK): £9.69

Pro-tip: Use this indoors and outdoors. It will cut down the ambient noise and make your life a lot easier in post production

4. SanDisk Ultra 32 GB microSDHC Memory Card

Current price on Amazon (UK): £6.45

Pro-tip: Do not buy more than a 32 GB card as these are not guaranteed to work. A 32 GB will record more than 24 hours on high quality WAV so it is more than enough.

5. AAA batteries (24 pack)

Current price on Amazon (UK): £7.99

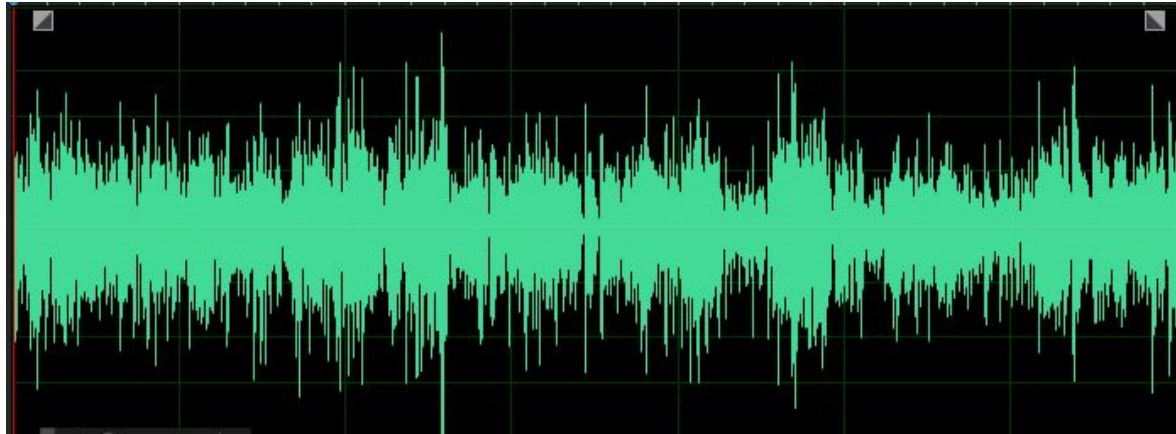

Pro-tip: Always take extra batteries. If in doubt change them before each long interview.

6. Adobe Audition software

Current price : Approx £10 per month

Pro-tip: Free audio editing software such as Audacity is available at <https://www.audacityteam.org/download/>

7. Libsyn podcast hosting

Current price : From USD5 per month

Pro-tip: While there may be free or cheaper options available like Libsyn for its integration with all popular audio streaming services and amazing customer service. Also some of the free hosting options will insert ads in your episodes.

Costing

Upfront cost: £134 (Zoom h1n mic with accessory pack, furry wind muff, 32 GB memory card and 24x AAA batteries)

Monthly cost: £10-20 (Audition editing software and Libsyn hosting). You can get this the monthly cost down if you use free software.
